

The Foundation Announces New Fellow: Hilary C. Aquino

The Foundation for the History of Women in Medicine is pleased to announce our 2011-2012 Fellow, Hilary C. Aquino, Ph.D.

Dr. Aquino's project, Dr. Leona Baumgartner: Crusader for the Public's Health, will explore the newly opened Baumgartner papers at the Center for the History of Medicine. Her research seeks to provide insight into the ways in which Dr. Baumgartner shaped the direction and focus of the New York City Department of Health, as Director of the Bureau of Child Health, Assistant Commissioner of Maternal and Child Health Services, eventually becoming the first female Commissioner of the entire department. History is HERstory Too! A Special Project of the Foundation for the History of Women in Medicine

Do you have experiences or advice that would be of value to share with our fellows, student scholars, and the FHWIM community? Here is your opportunity to allow others to learn from your experiences. The process is easy and allows you to be creative. We will chose a topic, then you submit a story in writing, make an audio tape, include photos - whatever you feel will enhance your tale. More

Make an Impact! It's not too late to contribute to the Annual Fund.

Consider making a tax-deductible contribution to FHWIM in Medicine to help us continue to create and deliver programs that preserve and promote the history of women in medicine.

Your support of FHWIM will help us survive the current economy with our programs not only intact, but thriving! We are counting on those who believe in and share our mission.
